

All our client info is strictly confidential and we ensure we adhere to the strictest parameters of confidentiality.

We work with some of the most well-known and respected writers on each publication and all articles have a 6 months period on any media site. This can be written in the formal contract between us.

You are engaging us for the time spent pitching your story to publications, media outlets and spreading your message.

The publication writers can of course say no to our pitch about your story but we will try our very best to help you.

We are very hard working! Traditional PR firms typically charge retainer fees of between $10,000 – $20,000 per month, with no contractual obligation to garner media coverage. The only difference between us and a traditional PR firm is that we do not charge retainer fees, irrespective of results.

We only collect a flat rate payment per story we manage to get you up on, depending on the media outlet with the full refund guarantee if we don't manage to get you up on anywhere within 90 days.

Refunds are made to any client within 60 days a client makes a request for a full refund. We have to consider the fact that we have partners and vendors we sometimes have to pay to get you featured or mentioned on a particular media site.